Brief History

The Stern family moved to Bloomington about 1905, where Jacob Stern opened Stern's Furniture Co. The firm was located at 504-06 North Main Street in Bloomington. Sam Stern was born May 6, 1903, in St. Louis, son of Jacob and Rose Iker Stern. He took over the business with his brothers after their father's death in 1916. The company expanded into the next-door location in 1939, after the death of Sam's brother Harry Stern in 1937. In spring of 1982, Sam Stern and his nephew Harry Miller Stern moved Stern Furniture Co. to 502 Eldorado Road, near Veteran's Parkway. In 1986 the firm held a going out of business sale and closed.

Jacob and Rose Iker Stern reared five children: Harry M.(1898-1937), Sadie Stern Grossman (1899-1957), Maurice B. (1900-1965), Samuel (1903-1982), and David (1905-1973).

Sam Stern (1903-1982) served in the Army during WWII and never married. An active community member, he served as chairman of the St. Joseph's Hospital Medical Center and the Moses Montefiore Temple building committee. He also was a member of numerous organizations, including the Bloomington Masonic Lodge and Bloomington Consistory. Sam received the Golden Book of Good Deeds Award from the Exchange Club of Bloomington in 1979, and the Humanitarian Award from the Pilot Club in 1978. In his spare time, he enjoyed visiting the circus and Miller Park Zoo and traveled often.

Harry M. Stern (1898-1937) was born in St. Louis and came to Bloomington with the family about 1905. A member of Wade Barney Masonic lodge, B'nai B'rith, and Moses Montefiore Temple, he died suddenly in 1937 at age 29. At the time of his death, he was general manager of the family furniture company.

Scope

The Stern Family Collection contains furniture store documents including newspaper articles, advertisements, and financial records; plus individual family members' receipts, property records, registration and identification cards for military and clubs, financial records, personal and business correspondence, school work, and other miscellaneous items.

Folders A6-A8 1962 Labor Dispute

In May 1962, an NLRB (National Labor Relations Board) settlement required Stern's to negotiate with a potential teamsters union local. A 1961 contract with local Leath Furniture was apparently held forth as a model for Sterns in the negotiations.

In November 1962, four employees went on strike at the furniture store after many months of discussions failed to result in a contract. Stern Furniture engaged Bloomington law firm Laudeman and Rolley and later Chicago law firm Winston, Strawn, Smith & Patterson. Ultimately, about December, the employees chose to "throw in the towel," return their union cards, and return to work at Sterns.

Materials related to this dispute include copies of the NLRB settlement, correspondence with both law firms, notes both typed and handwritten, copies of affidavits from Sam Stern and Ray Scogin, brochures and information from Central States Health and Welfare Fund including pension related materials as well as pension materials from other organizations, a copy of the 1961 Leath Furniture contract, a proposed contract for Sterns, etc.

These materials have been primarily left in the order received, although rusting staples and clips were removed.

C Harry M. Stern (1898-1937)

Folders C1-C4 – 1930 Investment Account Books

Includes June 12, 2013, letter from Harry's niece Sybil Stern Mervis to the Museum explaining donation of Harry Stern material. Letter also includes biographical information.

From the year 1930, Harry Stern's account book contains numerous financial transaction receipts and investment-related correspondence, particularly with Hornblower & Weeks, a brokerage firm. The majority of the files are arranged alphabetically by company name. In addition, there is a written record of stock and bond transactions for the year 1930, the company's financial statement, telegrams, letters, receipts for postage, a business card, Stern Furniture Co. stationary, financial-related handwritten letters, and a newspaper advertisement for real estate bonds. Many documents are addressed to Box 664, or 504 or 506 North Main Street in Bloomington, with some addressed to 1320 East Grove Street, Bloomington. In addition to investment papers for Harry Stern, there is correspondence from and addressed to Rosie Stern. There is a letter from the shareholders protective committee addressed to Maurice Stern at 217-22 Unity Building in Bloomington. The first account book contains 1930 letters from the United States Treasury Department to both Harry Stern and Samuel (Sam) Stern regarding their 1928 taxes.
